The IPFCA HAZMAT awareness program is to heighten safety awareness to industrial, and community health risks and preparedness to which they work and serve. Being a First Responder is important to co-workers, and the community in which you live, knowing the danger signs and material HAZMAT symbols may save the lives of others including your own, and from physical injuries of others.

Hazmat awareness also provides you as the first Responder insuring and enhancing the homeland security effort, when you can recognize out of place materials and can report them to authorities you increase security, and safety of others, and heading off traumatic tragedies. This course will also show how to help prevent terrorism, and how Bio-chemicals can be used against the U.S. and the community and work place where you live.

Avoiding further injuries you will learn how to approach a Hazmat accident and report to proper authorities the danger they may face along with innocent by-standers.
